JUSTICE AND RIGHT

VOLUME FIFTY

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, APRIL 5, 1928

OSCAR P. SCHUMANN, Editor and Proprietor

NUMBER 14

DEMOCRATS GRAB BEST OFFICES

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS REMAINS THE SAME

Grayling Democrats wiped the earth with us "haughty" Republicans at last Monday's election and only allowed us to name three constables, a justice and an overseer of highways. It was a meager lot doled out to the members of the Grand Old Party, while the minority party grabbed off supervisor, clerk, treasurer, highway commissioner, full term justice, member of board of review, an overseer of highways and one constable.

But the spanking was, apparently, quite to the liking of the Republicans, who themselves were the ones who turned the trick by their votes. Grayling Township cast 466 votes. Out of that number there were 62 straight Republican votes and 112 straight Democratic votes. Both parties split for from one to several candidates on the opposition ticket.

The ballots indicated that there was real need for a school of instruction to voters. There were many ballots in which the circle in the head of the ticket was not marked. While that is important, still if the voter is careful to mark a cross before each name for which he wishes to vote, it can be omitted. But in many cases that was not done and many ballots had but one or two names marked and thus those were the only candidates who got votes; all the others were lost.

The results of the ballots in the several townships are as follows:

Grayling Township

In the primary election South Branch gave Herbert Hoover, Republican 25, and Alfred E. Smith, Democrat 7.

There was no contest in Frederic township and the candidates as published previously were duly elected. That means that Supervisor Goshorn will again represent his township on the Board of Supervisors.

Also there was no contest in Lovells township and James E. Kellogg will continue as supervisor.

While there were but one ticket in Maple Forest and Beaver Creek townships a little flurry in competition with Eli Forbush running on slips against the regular nominee Rufus Edmonds, the latter winning by a good margin. C. H. Marker opposed on slips the regular nominee for treasurer, the latter winning.

In Beaver Creek township the entire Republican ticket won out, re-electing George Annis for supervisor. Frank Love, running on slips, lost. A number of slips for Mr. Love lacked the cross before the name and could not be counted.

Hoover, for nomination for president carried by large majorities in all townships except Lovells where he tied with Smith—9 each.

CHURCH CHOIR RENDERS BEAUTIFUL EASTER CANTATA

Under the able direction of Mrs. C. G. Clippert the choir of the Michelson Memorial church presented the beautiful Easter cantata, "The Throned King" to one of the largest audiences that has ever gathered at that edifice.

From the choir room the choir marched in procession to the hymn "Christ the Lord is risen today." They then opened the cantata with the chorus "Let the righteous be glad." The story told by solos, quartettes, duets and choruses led up from the cross on Calvary "He Chose the Cross of Shame," then Gethsemane, to the approach of the soldiers, then the crucifixion, death and burial.

The scene then changed to the resurrection. "He is Risen" and "Glorious in the Garden" "Jesus Lives" and "Praise ye the Lord" the final chorus.

The solo parts were rendered by Mrs. Harold Jarmin, Mrs. Roy Milnes, Mrs. Chas. Gothro, Mr. E. H. Webb, Mr. Fred Alexander and Mr. Harold Jarmin. The duets by Mrs. Milnes and Mrs. Gothro, Mrs. Herbert Gothro, Mrs. Chas. Gothro, Miss Schmidt and Miss Hermann, Mr. J. W. Greenwood and Mr. Webb and Mr. and Mrs. Jarmin. The quartettes by Mr. W. Lewis, Mr. Webb, Mr. Jarmin and Fred J. Alexander.

Each and every voice had been trained until the finest quality of tone had been reached and each selection was very nearly perfectly rendered making the cantata as a whole one of the most beautiful ever given in Grayling. Mrs. Clippert and her choir are to be congratulated for bringing to us this beautiful cantata as Easter approaches.

The church was very appropriately decorated for the service with ferns and greenery. This was under the supervision of Mrs. A. J. Joseph.

The choir are planning to take the cantata to Gaylord in the near future.

CARD OF THANKS

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

OSCAR TAYLOR AND FIANCEE, MISS BOWMAN MEET DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN DETROIT

The sad news received here Saturday of the tragedy early that morning in Detroit, in which Oscar Taylor, son of Oscar Taylor of this city and his fiancée Miss Laura Jean Bowman, met their death came as a shock to the many Grayling friends of the young couple.

Young Taylor and Miss Bowman were returning from a bridge party at the home of Miss Bowman's sister, Mrs. Benton Jorgensen, 2463 Kendall avenue, which was given in honor of Taylor's birthday. The youth was to have spent the night at the Bowman home, and gone to work from there Saturday morning with his fiancée's father, by whom he is employed.

E. A. Bowman, president of E. A. Bowman, Inc., 5115 John R. street, father of the girl, and Mrs. Bowman attended the party with their daughter and departed for their home shortly before Miss Bowman and her escort. They were waiting their arrival in their home when informed of the accident by Mrs. Bruce L. Greenbury, sister of Taylor, with whom the youth lived. Mrs. Greenbury had been advised of the tragedy by police who identified Taylor from cards found in his pockets.

The crash occurred at Davison avenue and Dequindre street about 1:30 a. m. Saturday. Miss Bowman was killed instantly. Taylor died two hours later in Receiving hospital.

After walking about the streets in a daze for nearly 14 hours, Alfred La Point, 670 Pearl street, Hazel Park, shell-shocked Canadian war veteran, sought as the driver who crashed into and killed the young couple surrendered at police headquarters shortly before 4 p. m. Saturday afternoon. La Point admitted driving the death car, in which beer was found, and said the crash followed a party at his home during which liquor was served.

According to the street car crew, Taylor had been proceeding east on Davison avenue when the larger machine emerged from the south on Dequindre street. The northbound automobile, the crew stated, crashed into Taylor's machine broadside, wedging it so tightly against and beneath the street car that the street car had to be jacked up before Miss Bowman's body could be removed.

Following the crash, the motorman said, the driver stepped from the death machine and began an argument with the street car crew, and when policemen appeared fled from the scene.

Oscar Taylor was a graduate of Grayling High school of the class of 1922, and took an active part in athletics during his high school years. Shortly after graduation he left for Detroit, and for some time had been employed as a radio salesman for the A. E. Bowman, Inc. Sales Co. He was a very likable young man, and although the family of children had been deprived of a mother's love and care in their later years, he was known to be a young man of exemplary habits and a favorite with his companions. Miss Bowman, who was a sister of Mrs. Benton Jorgensen had visited Grayling on various occasions, and with her parents spent one summer here resorting at Lake Margrethe. She was a graduate of the Northern High school of Detroit and was noted as a dancing instructor in that city. She delighted a large audience at the Junior Prom a few years ago by giving one of her dances in costume.

Surviving Oscar Taylor is his father of this city, three sisters, Misses Edna and Ruth and Mrs. B. L. Greenbury of Detroit and one brother Charles at home here. The young lady besides her parents is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Jorgensen and Miss Mildred, all of Detroit.

A double funeral was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bowman Monday afternoon. Rev. Irving E. Bratfield of the Redeemer Presbyterian church conducting same. The re-

J. DECKROW BUILDS GRANDFATHER CLOCK

MASTERPIECE IN WORKMANSHIP. RICHLIY INLAIN

John Deckrow has just finished a real old fashioned Grandfather clock, seven feet, 4 1/2 inches tall. This is the result of two years of painstaking labor. It is a work of art and workmanship.

The body of the clock is black walnut and is inlaid with white maple. The latter comprises 265 separate pieces and are fitted in with the nicety of the finest cabinet makers art. All panels are grooved, tongued and glued. The dial is of white maple, the hands of imported white Holly wood and the figures, which are in relief Old English, are of Cuban cedar, which also is imported and purchased by Mr. Deckrow from H. L. Wild, importer, New York City. The works are Seth Thomas.

Mr. Deckrow began work on the clock October 14th, 1926 and in all has into the work 1230 hours of labor. The items of cost he has computed as follows: Walnut wood, $26.50; maple, $4.85; White Holly and cedar, $1.00. The works cost $23.50, the varnish, glue and other incidentals $1.30.

Besides the article being artistic it is built to last a lifetime. During the last few weeks while the finishing has been in process hundreds of people have been into the Deckrow shop to view the clock, and Mr. Deckrow has been offered $750.00 for it. The clock has attracted so much attention that it has been placed on display in the Sorenson Bros. furniture store.

Mr. Deckrow is 31 years of age and is a son of Frank R. Deckrow, local plumber. He is a natural genius as a cabinet maker and his workmanship is surprisingly magnificent. The Grandfather clock should bring him such recognition that greater opportunity should be knocking at his door. He surely has done himself proud in this job and the citizens of Grayling can justly be proud of his identity with this community.

R. D. BAILEY PASSED AWAY

WAS AGRICULTURAL AGENT OF CRAWFORD COUNTY 7 YEARS

A pall of gloom was cast over the community Tuesday forenoon, April 3rd, by the announcement of the sudden death of R. D. Bailey, which occurred at his home here about ten o'clock that morning, following a protracted illness of Brights disease.

Seven years ago Mr. Bailey was engaged by Crawford county to fill the responsible position of County Agricultural Agent, and since that time has made his residence here, coming here from Gaylord. He has very ably conducted the affairs of that office, and from which he had just recently resigned by reason of failing health, but was accommodatingly continuing the office until his successor could get onto the field, but untimely death has stepped in and closed the career.

Northern Michigan has been the home and the scene of the labors of many men who have not only led lives that should serve as an example to those who come after them but who have also been of important service to this section of the fine old Wolverine state in various avenues of public usefulness. Such a man was R. D. Bailey, whose contributions to progress and development have ever been of the most insistent order and who was for years previous to coming to Grayling prominently identified with educational life in Otsego county and other localities in the state.

Rollin Dewitt Bailey first saw the light of day in the village of Constantine, St. Joseph county, Michigan, October 12, 1887, and was the son of Thomas S. and Mary E. Bailey, natives of the state of Vermont, who came to Michigan in the fifties settling in St. Joseph county, where they purchased a tract of land and developed a productive farm. Having acquired a good education in the public schools of his county, Mr. Bailey further supplemented it by taking a seven year course at Olivet college, and the work of an educator appealing to him, he accepted the position of principal of the city high school at Hastings, Barry county, which he successfully taught for two terms, and then removed north to Otsego county engaging in farming. But his worth as an educator was known, and for 12 years he very efficiently served as Otsego county's School Commissioner, and likewise taught a number of district schools to assist in financing his farm development work.

In the year 1889 was celebrated the marriage of Mr. Bailey to Miss Addie M. Brown, of Decatur, to which happy union 8 children have been born, 7 of whom are yet living, as follows: Mrs. Liela M. Pastori, Detroit; Edward Dewitt Bailey, Mt. Pleasant; Sheldon R. Bailey and Harold Bailey, Gaylord; Mrs. Lucile Nagle, Miami, Florida; Mrs. Thora Porter, Gaylord, and Miss Janice Bailey, an employee in the office of the Agricultural Agent at Gaylord.

Both Mr. Bailey and his estimable wife have been zealous members of the Congregational church for years, and since coming to Grayling have worshipped at the Michelson Memorial church.

He is survived by his widow and the children enumerated above, besides a host of friends won by his sterling worth. The citizens of northern Michigan and especially of Grayling and Gaylord have been thrown into close contact with Mr. Bailey and his family life for upwards of thirty years, and regard him as a man of most excellent principles and high and noble ideals; who loved truth and honesty; who hated sham and detested hypocrisy; whose life was marked with integrity and frugality; who loved his home and country and his country's flag, and whose trenchant pen and eloquent words were ever used in upholding the right and condemning the wrong, and his passing has left a void in the community life hard to fill. His mortal remains were taken to Gaylord Tuesday afternoon, his home town, where appropriate funeral rites will be solemnized, and the burial will be in the family lot in Fairview cemetery, there to await the resurrection morn.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock Grayling time, 2:30 o'clock Gaylord time and be conducted by Rev. J. W. Greenwood of this city.

OBITUARY

John Henry Hartman

To Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman of Genoa, Livingston Co., Michigan, was born a son on January 26, 1850, to whom they gave the name of John Henry. He was the second of sixteen children, four boys and twelve girls, of whom two brothers and four sisters survive him. His childhood, youth and young manhood were spent in Livingston County, where at the age of twenty-one he was united in marriage to Matilda Funch of Brighton, Mich. To this union were born ten children, six boys and four girls. In the year 1880 they came, with their young family, to Crawford County. The trip was made with team and wagon. Locating on a Government homestead in Grove (now South Branch) Township, they proceeded to hew a home out of the wilderness, which was then almost unbroken throughout that township. In 1886 diphtheria and scarlet fever took four of their dear children from the family circle, the other six were raised to manhood and womanhood. The mother departed this life Jan. 31, 1906.

The father lived alone for six years in his home on another farm which he had purchased and cleared on the Oscoda County line in South Branch Township, with the companionship of first one and then another of his children until on Jan. 1, 1913 he was married to Mrs. Louisa Kietzer. Together they journeyed down the westward slope into the sunset of life. Death claimed him March 27, 1928 at the home of his son, Fred, and was caused by senile gangrene, which attacked his feet and gradually worked thru his system. His suffering was intense until death relieved him. He was a good husband, a loving father, a kind neighbor and in his death the community loses a respected citizen and one of its last original members. Many friends join in their sympathy for the bereaved family.

He is survived by his wife, Louisa Hartman, two sons, John W. of Flint, and Fred H. of Eldorado; two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Williams of Grayling and Mrs. T. J. Hitchcock of East Jordan; twenty-five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. A married daughter, Mrs. Walton Babcock and a married son, Floyd B. preceded him into the Great Beyond by a few years.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The Woman's club met at the club rooms, March 28th. In spite of the stormy weather thirteen members responded to roll call. After the business meeting the debate "Resolved that the Volstead Act is a Success" was given. Affirmative led by Mrs. Winifred McNeven, the negative by Mrs. Laura Olson and Mrs. Myrtle Milnes, prepared by Miss Vella Hermann. It was well discussed and at the conclusion a vote was taken, all being for the affirmative.

Resolved That Volstead Act is a Success

(A few notes from the affirmative.)

Once a law is passed, the next important thing is its enforcement. Why have not the prohibition laws been more successful? The main reason is that their enforcement was put into the hands of their enemies. The authority for this statement is Rev. C. J. Kruse who is an ex-chaplain of the Ionia Reformatory. He further said that the Treasury Department was given this task of enforcing these particular laws and that Secretary Mellon, a former brewer and distiller and who had made his millions in this business, was appointed as head of this department.

The prohibition laws have not been enforced the way they should have been we must admit. Neither has any law; and many of them have been in existence for many years. The laws against peddling, stealing, adultery, bearing false witness, all as old as the Ten Commandments and still those laws are not enforced in a way that those things have been stamped out. Sherwood Eddy says: "The slave trade was legally prohibited in 1807, but it required until 1871 (sixty-four years) to stamp it out."

So because the prohibition laws have not been enforced the way they should have been why argue that they should be modified or put out of existence any more than any other of these laws should be. Warren S. Stone, who was Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and who was one of the greatest of American labor leaders of recent years said this: "There are some people who labor under the delusion that they are going to have the prohibition law modified or abolished. Someone should wake from his Rip Van Winkle sleep. I wish you could go with me for thirty days as I travel over this broad land and see the homes being erected everywhere; note the accounts being opened in savings banks; see the families out together in parks, recreation and community centers; children well fed, with shoes to wear and warm clothing, going to school; see prosperity, happiness and sunshine where formerly there were only squalor and misery. All this is a result of prohibition. We are not going back to the old condition of things; with their misery, want and poverty—never again. Prohibition has come to stay."

—Winifred McNeven.

On April 2nd, nineteen members responded to roll call. This being the last business meeting of the year the various committees reported on their activities of the year, some of which have not yet been completed. A resolution was passed sponsoring their interest in the campaign against tuberculosis.

The civic committee are working very hard to complete their plans for Better Homes Week. At the conclusion of business, "Gardening," "Short cuts to house cleaning" and "The model kitchen" were discussed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Emil Giegling on Tuesday, April 10th.

Shell Motor Oil stands the gaff

Fill up with SHELL MOTOR OIL. Hit the open road... Step on it... Force the car for all it's worth with never a fear or worry about lubrication. Shell Motor Oil will "stand up" and protect your motor every inch of the way.

What happens when you speed? Plunging pistons, a heavy crankshaft whirling in snug-fitting bearings, spinning gears and busy pumps... all driven by a ceaseless roar of explosions... hundreds of revolutions every minute in an inferno of heat.

It takes a real motor oil to stand the gaff... to supply constantly a smooth, unbroken film which completely envelops these flying metal surfaces and keeps them safely apart, but SHELL MOTOR OIL is more than equal to the task, because it is deliberately made for just such service.

The specially selected crudes which are its base... the low-temperature refining process used... the specifications to which it is refined, combine to produce an oil of exactly the right body. It is thin enough to flow freely to every moving surface... heavy enough to come through heat and friction unharmed... a constant protection to your motor and pocketbook.

Obtain your SHELL MOTOR OIL when and where you buy SHELL GASOLINE... SHELL Yellow and Red Service Stations and authorized SHELL Dealers everywhere are glad to render free crankcase service.

Nothing could be fairer and in return every grocer should sell Grayling bread, cakes and cookies. If they will do that the bakery is sure to grow and employ more men. Keep the money in Grayling. The consumers too can help toward keeping Grayling Grayling industries on the map by demanding their products. Ask for Grayling bread and take no other. THE BETTER HOMES CAMPAIGN TO BE SPONSORED BY WOMAN'S CLUB

The Better Homes campaign grows from day to day. Communities all over the United States, even in far away Alaska and Hawaii, are laying plans for demonstrations during Better Homes Week that will open April 22nd. Acceptances of local Better Homes committee chairmanships are pouring into national headquarters of Better Homes in America, 1653 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C., at a rate which means that the 1928 Better Homes campaign is certain to run far ahead of any previous campaign in the number of communities taking part.

In planning this year's campaign many committees in counties and rural communities are drawing their inspiration from some of the outstanding rural campaigns of last year. A particularly noteworthy one was that of Albemarle County, Virginia, which showed remarkable power of the Better Homes movement when rightly understood to bring about a spirit of neighborliness and of cooperation for the common good among all the scattered communities of a large county.

Mrs. Bessie Dunn Miller, joint chairman with Mrs. Murray Boocock for the 1927 Better Homes campaign in Albemarle County, Virginia, states: "By working side by side in a common cause, the greatest ever inaugurated in America, that of making better homes—the women of this county have been lifted out of their commonplace lives, and see life from a different viewpoint. They no longer bemoan their fates but rather glory in the privilege of living away from towns. The Better Homes movement has brought about the realization of a cherished dream, that of making the rural women and their families more content on the farms."

How did the committee do it? Principally by getting the women all over the county interested in working together to recondition the rest rooms in the town of Charlottesville, thereby giving them the feeling of uniting in a worth-while purpose. The rest rooms, seven in number plus a porch, on the second floor of an old brick house, seemed almost beyond their usefulness on account of inconvenience and lack of attractiveness. However, the lines of the house were good and the owner was willing to do any repairing necessary. So the committee set to work.

Day after day women from 21 rural sections of the county and from Charlottesville assembled at the house and united in the difficult task of making it over, scraping off old paint, repairing furniture, making draperies, sandpapering, making slip covers, filling cracks in floors, painting refinishing fireplaces, and the numberless other things necessary to be done in making over and furnishing an old house.

Nineteen organizations and groups, besides the local merchants and the press, supported the project.

A few bits of furniture were already in use; other pieces were bought from the second-hand shop, some pieces donated, some bought from local mills unfinished, and every piece was either painted or covered. The selection of furnishings was in the hands of a competent committee which saw to it that the furnishings were all in good taste. Miss Elsie Halbert of National Headquarters, who visited the Albemarle County rest rooms, says: "I do not know when I have been in any small home where the furniture has been so well chosen, where the color scheme has been as beautiful and the arrangement as excellent as in this community center."

The house, having been completely renovated and furnished by the people of the community, is maintained by the retail merchants of Charlottesville, where who keep a matron on the premises. Here groups may meet, or families rest, cook, sleep, or use this center merely as a guide in selecting furnishings or color combinations for their own homes.

Numerous other demonstrations formed part of the Albemarle County program.

With such educational enterprises in prospect for various communities in the country, Better Homes in America looks forward to 1928 as a year in which the spreading of the Better Homes program will show greater results than ever before.

The Better Homes campaign in Grayling will be sponsored again this year by the Woman's Club, the civic committee of which are now busy arranging a program. Grayling people remember with pride what a fine success it was last year.
